Writing a diary is a mechanism for
coping with the need
to adjust to
hardships, freedom,
and challenges.
